THE NAVY AND THE YORKTOWN CEL-EBRATION.—Rear-Admiral Wyman, com-manding the North Atlantic Station, now on the flagship Tennessee, at New York, informs the Navy Department that he has appointed Lieut. Commander H. C. White as harbor-master at the anchorage in York River to carry out certain specific orders. He requests that one of the four tugs de-tailed there be directed to report to him to assist him in his duties, and that the reassist him in his duties, and that the remaining three be ordered to report to himself on his arrival at Yorktown, which will be on the 12th inst. Admiral Wyman further says that he proposes to leave the New York anchorage, with the vessels under his command and the French corvette, Dumont d'Urville, in company, on Monday next, to await the arrival of the French guests of the United States at the quarantine station, and then to land them in accordance with the views of the New York commission in New York. Returning to the New York anchorage he will take them on the second day after their arrival in the United States steamers Vandalia and Kearsarge to West Point—the guests in the United States steamers Vandalia and Kearsarge to West Point—the guests returning by rail to New York. Second Artillery—Scenes Along the Route.

The Light Battery C. Second Artillery, United States army, which left Fort Hamilton, New York, September 15, to march to Yorktown, reached Baltimore last night, and will reach here some time this evening. The battery consists of seventy-five men, under the command of Major William Sinclair, Lieuts. Potts and Slotherly and Assistant Surgeon H. G. Barton. They bring four pieces of cannon, seventy-one horses and mules, six wall tents and twenty "A" tents with them. They were ordered from Fort Hamilton by Gen. Hancock, and have been following, as far as practicable, the route taken by General Washington's trops to Yorktown. The officers report progress daily to General Hancock. They expect to arrive at Yorktown about October 12. On reaching here they will be joined by Light Battery A, Second Artillery from the arsenal, which will continue the journey to Yorktown with them.

Red Lion Inn, near Poquessing Creek, on the Bristol turnpike, is supposed to have been kept as a public house for a century. An Englishman, Philip Ames, probably set it up. After his death, according to Scull's map of 1770, it was kept by his widow. In 1781 Washington's army, on their march to Yorktown to attack Cornwallis, encamped over night." In 1776 delegates to the Continental Congress also stopped there. In the house is a quaint and unique clock, so ancient in appearance that it would have served to wind up the machine poet of "My Grandfather's Clock." The officers of the marching battery took a great deal of interest in the clock.

The officers of the marching battery took a great deal of interest the additional circulation issued to national banks during the month of September, $1,554,709; the amount surrendered and destroyed, $697,221, leaving a net increase of $557,479. The net increase of national bank notes during the year ending October 1, 1881, is $15,190,657, or an average of about $1,250,000 a month.

The friends of Col. F. N. Wicker, collector of customs at Key West, Florida, are urging his name for the office of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Col. Wicker, is a Republican, on the Stalwart order, and has been connected with the Treasury be partment for the past thirteen years. He was special agent of that department in the Territory of Alaska for several years, and during the past eight years has been collector of the port of Key West, Fla.

SOUTH ATLANTIC STATION.—Rear Admiral Spotts, commanding the South Atlantic attention, writes to the Department, under a few days for Maldonaldo, where the Marion will join her. He calls attention to the fact that the vessels now in that station are of too deep draught to enter the smaller ports of the station, and their movements are consequently confined to lengthy anchorages in the few larger ones. He therefore requests that a small steamer of about eight feet draught may be sent out for servee in the river, and also for surveying purposes.

NAVAL ONDERS.—Vice Admiral S. C. Rowan, as governor of the Naval Asylum, Philadelphia; Licut. Frank Courtis, to duty in the Equipment Department, Navyyard, Washington, D. C.; Paymaster H. dined and the men given coffee and sand-wiches. At Waverly the battery excited a great deal of curiosity and not a little ad-miration. Ladies and gentlemen visited the camp, and the whole town turned out when the evening guns were fired.

A Visit to Camp.

Major Sinclair was visited at his camp near Baltimore last night. To a reporter of the Baltimore American he said: "We leave here at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning on our march for Washington. I don't know march for Washington. I don't know where we will stop to-morrow night." Major Sinclair said that the trip had been very pleasant all along, and the weather had been delightful, only the last three had been delightful, only the last three days being exceedingly warm. There has been no sickness among the men, and all had gone right so far. The curtain of his tent was open, and the inside looked very neat and comfortable. On a camp-table a candle was burning and attracting mosquitoes in great swarms. On the floor was a neat carpet, while a cot was placed along the south end of the tent. Twenty tents were staked along the east side of the camp, horses being corraled near them. West of these the cannon were placed. The officers' tents ran along the south of the camp-ground. Two camp-fires were lighted at either end of the field, and the seene presented was picturesque. The men were lounging in front of field, and the scene presenter. We esque. The men were lounging in front of their tents cooking over their fires or looking after the horses. The officers are represented as fine looking and agreeable and the men as appearing very creditable. The battery will camp on the Washington road to-night, not fair from the District line, and remain until to-morrow. They will then proceed to Virginia by way of Alexandria, Fredericksburg and Williamsburg.

BARNUM'S FAT WOMAN

Up a Circus on Her Own Account-No Charge for Admission-She Pays S10 for the Privilege of Amusiug the Populace. New York, Oct. 1.—Miss Anna Stephens New YORK, Oct. 1.—Miss Anna Stephens, celebrated for her corporosity, was arrested and fined $10 to-day for disorderly conduct. She was found swearing at mankind and cursing fate in the street because of being reduced in fat until she only weighed 367 pounds. Her salary was cut down much below what she received a short time ago, when she weighed 500 pounds.

Canadian Railroad War. Canadian Railroad War.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—The Minister of Justice has refused to issue a writ of quo worranto asked for by the Grand Trunk Railroad managers against the South Shore Railway and Tunnel Company. An order in council has been passed authorizing the commencement of the tunnel at once. The tunnel will pass underneath the St. Lawrence at this city, and will connect with American lines as a competitor of the Grand Trunk Road.

Fatalities in Baltimore.

Baltimore, MD., Oct. 1.—Bernhard La-renz, 19 years old, steward on the German ship Stella, lying at Henderson's wharf, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself in the head with a pistol. Michael Giacomo, 15 years old, fell from the Italian bark Coniezione S., lying at Abraham's wharf, and was drowned.

Obnoxious Legislative Councils. Halifax, N. S., Oct. 1.—The members of the New Brunswick government have been holding a conference with the Nova Scotla government relative to the abolition of the legislative councils of the two prov-inces. Another conference will be held shortly at Frederickton, N. B.

Garfield's Writings.

New York, Oct. 1.—O. B. Potter has subscribed $2,000 as a nucleus of a fund to secure the publication of Gen. Garfield's writings, addresses and opinions on civil-service reform. The matter is in the hands of George William Curtis and E. P. Wheeler.

War to the Knife, Says Col. Bliss. - New York, Oct. 1.—Col. Bliss, in an interview, says the proceedings in the Star-route case will be immediately begun against ex-Senator Dorsey, and that no one, high or low, will be spared.

Professor Bell's Instrument No Good.

New York, Oct, 1.—Dr. Bliss says that no confidence was ever placed in Professor Bell's instrument, not even by the Professor himself. Dr. Bliss says he has Bell's written admission of this fact. The Walking Match. NEW YORK, Oct. I.—The score at noon o-day was as follows: Harriman, 226 miles pectal Dispatch to THE EVENING CRITIC, NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The feeling on New York, Oct. 1.—The feeling on the market last night was naturally somewhat bearish at the Windsor, mainly owing, probably to a great extent, to the i per cent. rate for funds and the low prices current at the close of the day. Cammack, Mills, Park, and Loomis White were talking the market down furiously, but the conservative traders generally said they thought quotations would be higher again this afternoon, with the lower rates for money, and next week there would be another bull movement.

The high rates and pinch late yesterday afternoon was partly ascribed to the blunder of brokers who have waited usually for the low rates which have come heretofore after 2 p. m.

the low rates which have come heretofore after 2 p. m.

A good deal of money is expected here from Washington to-day, Sage said he loaned a great deal of money yesterday at 6 per cent, and thought the stock market would take a decided turn in a day or two. Senator O'Brien said hast evening he had the best authority for saying that the railroad war had been practically settled up, and that new rates would be made about and that new rates would be made about the 1st of November.

The street story of yesterday was generally believed that Vanderbilt had secured the C., C. & I.; had thrown over the Lake Eric & Western, and was bound to have a new Southwestern system.

The Central Pacific people were pleased over the probability of a connection with the Huntington roads. It was reported from the transfer office that Vanderbilt had a great deal of Reading stock placed in his name yesterday. The Vanderbilt following generally discredited the story about the C., C., C. & I. connection, and said the rise in the stock lately came from the closing of the books and the calling in of stock.

JONES' VISIT TO CONKLING.

The Senator Denies That There Was Any Significance In It. NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Senator John P. Jones, of Nevada, who has just come from a visit to Conkling, at Utica, said this morning to a reporter of the National Associated Press:

Press;
"I have not seen President Arthur in a week. I went to Utica of my own accord, and not upon the invitation of Gen. Ar-and not upon the invitation of Gen. Arthur."

He denied the story that a shorthand writer was present to take down what he and Conkling said. Continuing, he said:

"No significance whatever need be attached to my visit to Mr. Conkling. I did not go to see him in the interest of President Arthur, nor any other person.

"It was simply a friendly visit, and I am surprised that it should have excited so much comment.

surprised that it should have excited so much comment.

"If I had wanted to see Mr. Conkling on any important subject, I could have seen him in New York frequently of late."

"Is it true that you have been offered and will accept a Cabinet place?"

"You can say this: That I would not accept a Cabinet place if one was offered me."

President Arthur remained secluded in his Lexington avenue residence during the day, and did not go to the Fifth-avenue Hotel.

CANDIDATE FOR LYNCH LAW,

And a Very Proper Subject Mr. Spencer Would be. New Tacoma, Washington Territory, Oct. 1.—There was a tragedy yesterday which is likely to lead to a lynching. Charles E. Spencer, agent of the Singer Seving Machine Company, made offensive remarks about Gen, Garfield some days ago, and was ordered to leave town, and did so. Yesterday he returned, and meeting on the street a man named Dewitt agent of the street a man named Dewitt agent of the Yesterday he returned, and meeting on the street a man named Dewitt, agent of the Wheeler & Wilson Company, had some words with him, and shot him twice in the breast and stomach. Dewitt is mortally wounded. The excitement is intense, and citizens threaten to hang Spencer if they can get at him.

Good Little Indians.

Good Little Indians.
Chicago, Oct. 1.—Twenty young Indians, including three girls, have arrived here under charge of Gen. S. C. Armstrong from the school at Hampton, Va., where they have been taught the common branches and a trade during the past three years. A reception was given them at Farwell Hall and they go West to-day to earn their own living, when forty more will be sent to Hampton school.

New York Bank Statement.

New York, Oct. 1.—The bank statement to-day is unfavorable. Loans decreased, $2,174,700; specie decreased, $5,341,200; legal-tenders decreased, $326,900; deposits de-creased, $5,799,200; circulation increased, $93,900; reserves decreased, $4,218,300. Bloody Work in Mississippi. CORINTH, MISS., Oct. 1.—At Bunker Hill, Smith County, fast night, H. O. Eaton, Dan Hathorn, and Dick Yaun resumed an old fend. Hathorn shot and killed Eaton, and Yaun at once shot and killed Hathorn. Both died instantly.

One Murderer Who Did Not Go Straight to Glory.

Columnus, Ga., Oct. 1.—Henry Metzgar was hanged at Titusviile, Fln., yesterday, for the Moore murder. He said he had killed seven men, and died uurepentant. Mysterious Disappearance. CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 1.—While S. H. Burton was cutting coupons from $25,000 worth of Government bonds at the counter of the Safe Deposit Company in this city to-day, $10,000 mysteriously disappeared.

CABINET CHANGES. The Latest Bulletin Issued by Dame Rumor.

At this juncture, the most absorbing oc-cupation of politicians is Cabinet-making, and all sorts of rumors and suggestions are circulated, based upon no other foundation than the wish being father to the thought. The Manhattan Elevated annual report will be out to-day, and Kneeland says it will show an increase of about $700,000 in gross. The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western bulls were disappointed last night over the decline in the stock yesterday in the face of the increased dividends, but believe the total payments this year will reach 10 per cent through something more on the next quarter.

A Chicago dispatch this morning states that the twisted Cincinnati bears in wheat raised $250,000 more margins last night, and the embarrassed brokers were saved from failure.

The resident and relation with Gen. Logan, it has been determined to tender the Attorney-Generalship to Senator Davis of Illinois, whose Senatorial term expires March 3, 1883. The resignation of Judge Davis will create a vacancy, and in the event of his acceptance of the Department of Justice, it is proposed to elect Secretary Lincoln to the Senate in Davis' place.

It is not known whether Senator Davis will accept, but in view of the fact of the improbability of his re-election, it is thought the will regard the proposition favorably, since his habits and tastes are eminently judicial.
